Asks For Rates For The Whittet Lumber Company To Edgerton From Alsho.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., May 26.—Alexander E. Matheson of Janesville yesterday presented to the railroad rate commission a matter of exceeding importance in the petition of the Whittet Lumber company of Edgerton for an order of the commission requiring the North-Western and Milwaukee roads to establish a joint rate for the transportation of lumber from Alsho, near Rhinelander, Oneida county, to Edgerton. The best rate now obtainable is 12 cents or more and the Edgerton petitioners claim that a material reduction ought to be made by the rate commission under the section of the new law imposing upon the commission the duty and the power of requiring joint rates where two or more roads participate in a haul and the sum of the local rates appears to be unreasonable. At the close of the taking of testimony John Barnes, chairman of the commission, invited the attorneys for the petitioners and for the railroads to make arguments, stating that the question was of so great importance as establishing a precedent in the matter of joint rates that the commission desired to get all the light possible before making a decision this being the first time the subject has been brought before it for consideration. Upon the suggestion of Attorney Matheson the lawyers will submit written arguments within the next ten days.

ROYALTIES REACH MADRID FOR THE PRELIMINARIES

Official Ceremonies Of Royal Wedding Begun
Today—Special Bull Fight
Tomorrow.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madrid, May 26.—The official ceremonies in honor of the wedding of King Alfonso and Princess Ena of Battemberg formally opened here today. Thousands of persons gathered about the Northern Station to witness the arrival of the royalties who are to attend the marriage. Immense crowds also lined the route from the station to the Palace.

Each day sees new additions to the already elaborate decorations of the capital. At the Puerto del Sol, thirty golden columns circling the square have been erected. They are surrounded by orillanes linked by garlands of flowers, flags and colored lamps.

At the Church of San Geronimo practically all preparations have been completed for the wedding ceremony. Special stands have been erected for the accommodation of the invited guests; the church and the nave being reserved for the royal family, princes and members of the court.

A special bullfight is advertised for tomorrow afternoon at the Puerto del Sol. No less than fifteen bull fights are to take place in connection with the wedding festivities, and over one hundred bulls are to be killed.

Free dinners were given to several thousand poor persons today. This charity will be repeated daily until May 31. Fifty thousand pesetas (about $10,000), have been distributed to the poor, and small sums will be deposited in savings banks in the names of all children born next Thursday, the day of the wedding. Altogether, gifts amounting to 200,000 pesetas will be distributed.

The police are taking rigorous precautions against any repetition of the previous attempts made on the life of King Alfonso. Extraordinary precautions will be taken also for the safety of the many royal personages who will throng Madrid next week. Even the usual photographic equipments have been suppressed unless by special permit.

The enormous and growing crowds and the babel of tongues may perhaps be considered so far to be the most striking features of the royal wedding festivities. Early morning sees crowds, mostly women, out to view the decorations and yearning for a sight of royalty. Later in the day there begins an endless stream of vehicles of every conceivable description, from the aristocratic equipages of the wealthy to the humble donkey carts of the country folk.

Toward night, when the working people leave the shops and factories, the crowd changes in aspect. It is then less well-dressed and much noisier, but still orderly, and it is long past midnight when the people finally disperse from the public squares.

GUillotined NUNS TO BE CANONIZED

Sixteen, Carmelite Sisters of Compiègne Who Were Put to Death
In France.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Rome, May 26.—It St. Peter's tomorrow will take place the imposing ceremonies attending the canonization of the sixteen Carmelite nuns of Compiègne who were guillotined by the French revolutionists. The Congregation of Rites has decided that their deaths were caused by their steadfastness in the faith and that they were real martyrs. It is his health permits the Pope will himself officiate at the ceremony of canonization, and Rome is filling up with French priests and laymen, who have come here to witness the great ceremony. It has been intimated in the Italian press that the canonization of the Compiègne nuns has political significance, because they were condemned to death by similar anti-clerical forces to those now in possession of France. No one at the Vatican will assert the contrary, and it is generally hoped in church circles that the proclamation of the sanctity of the martyred sisters will prove a lesson to the anti-clerical element in France, as it will tend to show that many victims of the French revolution were martyrs to their faithfulness to the Church.

JULIA WARD HOWE IS EIGHTY-SEVEN

Author of the Battle Hymn of the Republic Completely Recovered
From Recent Sickness.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
BATTLE HYMN OF THE REPUBLIC.
Nine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord;
He is trampling out the vintage where the grapes of wrath are stored;
He hath loosed the faithful lightning of His terrible swift sword;
His truth is marching on.

Doston, Mass., May 26.—From every part of the country a flood of congratulations is pouring in upon Julia Ward Howe, one of the last of the types of America's golden age, who will be 87 years old tomorrow. The unusual number of the felicitous messages is due partly to the fact that Mrs. Howe has but recently recovered from a severe illness. The past winter was very trying on her constitution, enfeebled by old age, and her sickness took her almost to the door of the beyond.

The aged author of the immortal "Battle Hymn of the Republic" lives in a beautiful home in Beacon street, where she is cared for by a loving daughter and son-in-law. In accordance with her custom of many years, Mrs. Howe is preparing to spend the summer at Newport. It is a fact not generally known that Mrs. Howe and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Sr., are distant cousins, both being directly descended from Governor Richard Ward of Rhode Island.

Julia Ward Howe was born in New York in 1819. She was given a private education and in 1843 married Dr. Samuel G. Howe, an eminent philanthropist who died in 1876. She and her husband conducted an anti-slavery paper in Boston before the war.

After the conflict she was deeply interested in such causes as woman's suffrage, prison reform, peace, etc., and she was noted as a Unitarian writer, preacher and lecturer. She is also the author of a number of books and poems, including her "Hymn of Peace." The famous "Battle Hymn of the Republic" was written by Mrs. Howe after a visit to the camp of the Army of the Republic during the war.

Has Sold Old Auto: Forrest Gower has shipped his touring car to Mr. A. C. Clark of Rice Lake and expects to purchase a handsome, new and up-to-date machine.

Reached Age Limit of Sixty-two After Twenty Years of Active and Faithful Service.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., May 26.—After twenty years' active service as an officer of the navy Rear Admiral Thomas Perry was today placed on the retired list, having reached the age limit of sixty-two years. Admiral Perry is a native of Elmira, N. Y., and graduated from the naval academy in 1865. During the Spanish-American war Admiral Perry, then a captain, commanded the flagship Lancaster at the base of supplies at Key West, Fla. He has commanded the battleship Iowa and served as commandant of the New York and Pensacola navy yards, as well as served at the head of several of the naval boards. The vacancy in the rank of rear admiral caused by his retirement is filled by the promotion of Captain Charles S. Sperry, who sails today as a delegate from the United States to the Geneva convention and Hague conference.

Washington, D. C., May 26.—The resignation of Maj. William F. Lippitt, surgeon, as an officer of the army went into effect today. Maj. ## PROSPERITY IN BUSINESS WORLD

R. G. Dun & Co. Sees Good Times Ahead In Every Line Of Trade.

PLENTIFUL RAIN BOON TO CROPS

Recent Warm Weather Enabled Retailers To Get Seasonable Wearing Apparel Cleared
From The Shelves.

[Special to The Gazette.]
New York, May 26.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: "Ample rains throughout the farming regions provided the most important commercial factor of the past week, large crops being essential to a maintenance of national prosperity at the maximum position recently attained."

Retail trade responded to the stimulus of warm weather, light weight wearing apparel going freely into consumption, and there is an unusually liberal volume of wholesale business for this time of the year.

Mercantile collections are still somewhat irregular, but at most cities payments are improving, and the financial situation is more encouraging now that the San Francisco banks have resumed business without any disturbance.

Manufacturing plants are well occupied and building operations are heavy, but there are indications of a lower level for commodity quotations for the month of May.

Customary summer quiet is noted in some departments, although there is less than the usual interruption, and preparations are already in progress for a very active fall season.

Labor Conditions Improve.
Labor conditions have improved, the only new disturbance of note being locally among the painters, while the steel industry suffers less daily from old disputes.

Railway earnings thus far reported for May exceed last year's by 11 per cent, and foreign commerce at this time is about equal to that of last year.

Bradstreet's Report.
Bradstreet's report follows: Set- tled bright spring weather favors the passage of large quantities of products into final consumption, as evidenced by the reports of expanded retail trade, of enlarged jobbing reorder business and of trade at first hands in excess of the volume usual at this season of the year. Reports from the leading industries are of sustained great activity, except in some few divisions of the fuel and iron trades where strikes curtail operations slightly. The crop situation is, on the whole, quite cheerful, the only drawback being the irregular distribution of rainfall in different districts. Fall trade, as usual, waits on crop development, but is of larger volume than ordinarily at this season, evidence that so far the agricultural prospect is for yields at least equal to those of last year.

WAS TRIED AND FOUND GUILTY OF DRUNKENNESS

William Flickner Cross-Questioned Officers and Testified in Own Behalf This Morning.

William Flickner, recently employed on J. G. Skobie's farm six miles south of the city, who pleaded "not guilty" to drunkenness in municipal court on Thursday, had his trial this morning. Officer Bencke and City Marshal Appleby were the witnesses for the prosecution and the case was conducted without lawyers, Mr. Flick-ner and the marshal conducting the examination of the respective sides.
The prisoner endeavored to show that while he might have been intoxicated on the day previous, his funds were too low to permit him to buy more than one drink on the day in question.
He explained in detail how he was refused a drink in one's' North Main street saloon because he owed for one or two rounds on the night previous and how he subsequently borrowed and expended 50 cents for food, tobacco, getting his knife sharpened, charity, and one drink. The officers testified that he was in several saloons and that he staggered. After the evidence was in the court pronounced "guilty," but said it was disposed to be lenient if he would get out of town at once, inasmuch as he had already spent two days in the lock-up. This Flickner promised to do and sentence was suspended.

SMALL YACHTS OFF FOR LENGTHY RACE

Four Little Boats Sail From New York For Six Hundred Mile Run to the Bermudas.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, May 26.—Amid cheers and good wishes from thousands of yachting enthusiasts four small, white-winged, crafts sped through the Narrows and out to sea this afternoon in a 650-mile-deep-sea race for the $1,000 cup offered by Sir Thomas Lipton. Memories of the American Cup race days were revived by the large number of yachts that turned out to witness the event. To the spectators ashore it looked almost as if one could put a pin down in the lower bay without striking one of the sleek-looking craft that dotted the blue waters everywhere.

This deep sea race for small yachts is unique in the history of aquatic sport in America. The average yachtsman is inclined to regard the contest as a little bit dangerous, which, of course, does not detract from the general interest of the event. The race is an entirely different sort of an affair from the coasting contests that have been engaged in the last year or two. The nearest point of the mainland is Cape Hatteras, and that is 370 miles away, with the mighty Gulf Stream between, the abode of water-snouts and squalls, while from New York the nearest point of the Bermudas lies distant 650 miles, bearing about southeast.

The four boats taking part in the race are members of the Brooklyn Yacht club. They are as follows: The Tamerlane, yawls, thirty-eight feet overall, owned by Frank Maier. The Ella, yawl, forty feet overall, owned by R. D. Floyd. The Gammett, sloop, twenty-eight feet overall, owned by George W. Robinson. The Bonnie Kate, sloop, forty-four feet overall, owned by W. B. Goddard, Jr.

The boats are expected to finish within six or seven days at Hamilton. The Royal Bermuda Yacht club has arranged for the timing of the boats at the finish line.

RURAL ROUTES HAVE A NEW REGULATION

Patrons Must Have A Signal Up When They Want Mail Taken
From Box.

On and after July 1, 1906, patrons of the rural delivery service will be required to display signs on their boxes when they leave mail in them for carriers to collect, as, after that date, carriers, when serving their routes, will not be required to open and examine any mail boxes except those to which they have mail to deliver and those on which signals are displayed to indicate there is mail for carriers to collect. Those patrons whose boxes are not provided with signals must attach thereto some device which, when displayed, will plainly show passing carriers there is mail to be collected. It is not necessary that such device shall be either complicated or costly; a very simple arrangement will answer the purpose. Carriers must lower the signals on boxes after making collections, provided no mail is left therein; and must display the signals when they deposit mail for patrons, unless patrons have made request to the contrary.

REVIEW OF WORK OF HISTORY DEPARTMENT

Resume of the Study of This Department of the Art League Given Yesterday.

At Mrs. M. E. Smiley's residence on Milton avenue yesterday afternoon the last meeting for the present year of the history department of the Art League was held and a brief resume of the year's work was read by one of the members. This class has accomplished much in the past year and the following is an outline of the work that they have accomplished.

With the close of today's lesson we have traversed some 12 centuries in the history of the Eternal City. We have seen how, under the rule of the popes, the fortunes of Rome varied during that period, the rise of the papacy under Gregory the Great, the meteoric course of Hildebrand, the life and death of Arnold of Brescia, the masterful figure of the Third Innocent, the melancholy failure of the dreamer, Cola di Rienzi, the crimes of Alexander VI., the pomp and pageants of Leo X. All these things fall within the period of which we have studied during the past year. The quarrels of rival Roman houses, the quarrel of the city during the absence of the popes at Avignon, the sack of Rome by her worse than Gothic marauders, the revival of religious zeal and the consequent development of the Inquisition, the unification of all the separate provinces of Italy under even the rule of the present day under the spiritual power of Pius X. have been traced. Mediaeval Rome has attracted less attention than the classical period. The peculiar relation in which Rome stood to the rest of the world by virtue of her position as a Papal See bestowed some benefits, but also not a few disadvantages on the inhabitants. In days gone by Italy was divided into a number of little states full of rivalries and jealousies, often at war with one another, constantly subject to revolutions and incessantly dominated over by foreigners. Sometimes Germany, and sometimes Spain, sometimes France and sometimes Austria, ruled the Peninsula. They quarreled over or divided their Italian spoils, each in turn placing their heel on the neck of Italy and claiming her as its lawful prey. It is a record of strife and revolution. Today Italy is free, independent and united. But before the tribunal of history, "The City on the Seven Hills," if she has greatly sinned, has greatly suffered. Let us hope that her suffering is complete and that the third Rome under the present rule of Victor Emmanuel III. may retain some of the poetry of the middle ages together with the inheritance of monuments which the popes have handed down to posterity.

LIME LIGHT THROWN UPON BAD PLACES IN STREETS

JANESVILLE STREETS AND WALKS THAT ARE DISGRACE.

A FEW PICTURES ARE SHOWN

Conditions That Are a Bad Advertisement For Any City—City Fathers Should Take Action.

Janesville has bad streets and bad sidewalks. This is a fact that is known to many people and realized by few. Persons become so accustomed to walk up hill and down into hollows along the main thoroughfares that they do not realize just how bad the sidewalks are until some one falls and is injured and a damage suit results.

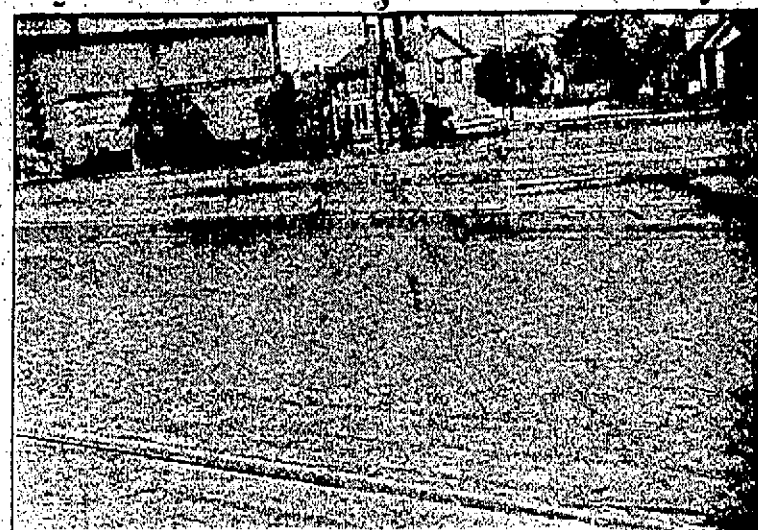

At the corner of West Bluff and Madison streets. The crosswalk is uselessly high and pile of rubble, placed to fill a hole, has been neither tampered nor rolled.

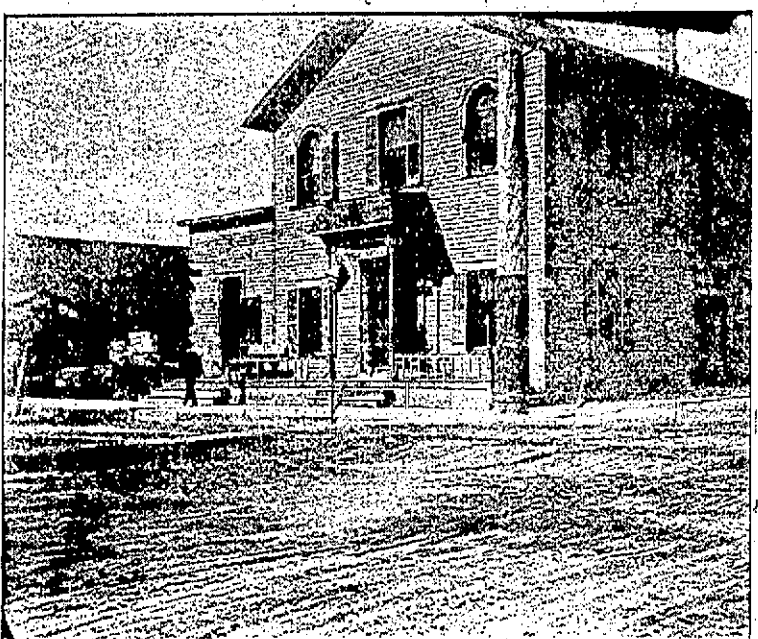

Walk and road near the People's Coal company office on Pleasant street. The surface of this walk is like a lake on a windy day. The boards, which run lengthwise, being loose and not supported evenly. The gutters are filled with sand and fail to serve their purpose. A rank growth of coarse grass and weeds also extends into the road.

A high crosswalk at the corner of Jackson and Dodge streets. The surface is unnecessarily curved, a much lower and less concave being sufficient to prevent puddles of water. This spoils one of the finest streets in the city for a driveway either for horse or auto.

The Five Points, looking from the corner of Washington and Pleasant streets across the tracks. The road is of course unsatisfactory, being intersected by many rails but the crosswalks, which could be kept in good condition are out of repair and dilapidated. The planking is rotten, knotty and broken and gravel and cinders make walking uncomfortable.

Corner of Pleasant and South River streets. Here the crosswalks are high but the most glaring fault is the result of the new sewer. The extra

OFFICIAL SEASON IS TO OPEN WEDNESDAY

Sinnissippi Golf Club Will Begin Their Regular Series of Plays.

While golfers have been playing the game for several months past and the Sinnissippi Golf club house has been used more or less for afternoon parties and evening entertainments, the official season will open on Wednesday, next, Wednesday. The house committee have thoroughly gone over the clubhouse, have had it cleaned and made ready for the coming season, curtains have been taken down and washed and new ones put up, the ladies' locker rooms made dainty and presentable and the kitchen cleaner than it ever has been. There is no country club in the state that has a more ideal location than the Sinnissippi one, and its broad veranda with easy chairs is an ideal spot on a hot summer afternoon. The house committee consisting of Mrs. Frank Blodgett, Mrs. W. G. Wheeler, Miss Mae Valerius and George McKee and Charles Gage have done their preliminary work well, and it remains for the rest of the members to aid them in making the clubhouse the most popular spot for the members during the coming summer. Weekly card parties are planned with frequent dances. On Wednesday next military cadets are the guests of the afternoon. The games will begin at two-thirty. The first club supper to be served on this evening and in the evening there will be a dance, the music for which will be furnished by Roy Carter and a pupil from the school for the blind with a combination musical instrument that is unique. Mixed foursomes and putting contests have also been arranged to give the official season the proper send-off. In June comes the state tournament in which interest all over the state is expressed. Janesville held the first state tournament and the cup to be contested for was presented by the Sinnissippi club as a trophy to be played for at future state meets. Secretary Baker of the state association and President McGiffin are both in communication with the different clubs throughout the state and a large gathering of the best golfers are expected. There has also been some talk of holding a society circus on the golf grounds some time during August. This latter plan is still confined to talk among the members and nothing definite has been done regarding it. The success of the club two years ago has led many to think that something in the shape of a circus and conducted on similar lines would be a success again this year.

THE SPANISH WAR VETERANS TO MARCH

Meeting Called for Monday Evening to Prepare for Decoration Day Services.

In the Grand Army Post hall Monday evening at eight o'clock is to be held a meeting of all veterans of the late Spanish-American war. The purpose of the gathering is to arrange for Decoration day, the idea being to have as many as possible march in the parade and prepare floral tributes for the graves of their comrades in the Janesville cemeteries. "At the same time the subject of forming a Spanish-American War Veterans' camp will be again broached. The move has been made several times before but nothing ever materialized. If the proposition is favorably received steps will be taken toward organization. In Beloit there is a camp, such as referred to, which meets at the Grand Army hall and is organized on the lines of that society.

Chief Hale's Fire Fighters
Will positively exhibit at Janesville on Monday, June 7. It is the purpose of this splendid and spectacular exhibition to represent the life of an American fireman just as he lives it, that the public may gain some faint idea of what they owe to this army of worthy heroes. It is the most thrilling exhibition of the art of battling with fire that has ever been given, and is presented by Chief Hale and his splendid company of trained firemen. Nor are the men the only actors in the drama. Chief Hale has an auxiliary company of trained horses whose intelligence seems human. There is also connected with this exhibition a mammoth hippodrome, during aerial acts, lady riders and acrobatic performances of the highest order. It requires 30 cars to transport this enormous production, and carries two magnificent bands of 35 first-class musicians, and will make a daily parade when exhibiting in Janesville on Monday, June 7.

LYCEUM WINS IN SPIRITED DEBATE

YOUTHFUL ORATORS DISCUSS KNOTTY PROBLEMS.

THE RATE BILL IS DECIDED

Older Society Wins Contest for Forensic Honors From the Junior Society.

In the debate last evening at the high school between the Lyceum and Forum literary societies on the question—Resolved, That the Interstate Commerce Commission Shall Have the Power to Fix Freight Rates—the Lyceum, which upheld the affirmative, won by a decision of 3 to 1. The boys showed that they had put considerable time on the question, which is not one of the easiest they could have chosen. Each side was given one hour to be divided as they saw fit among their three speakers, but no speaker was to have more than 22 minutes. Music was furnished by the high school orchestra before and after the speeches, which made the waiting moments more pleasant. The debate was opened by Orville Swift for the Lyceum, who outlined the policy and showed the benefits expected to be derived from such a policy.

Opening Remarks.
He spoke of the duties a commission should give these powers should have and stated that he thought these powers should take effect without the usual process now gone through before a rate can be lowered. The evils, he showed, were due to sending goods from one state to another and by certain individuals being given certain rights over other shippers. Mr. Swift attempted to show how the railroad companies are collecting a certain percentage of freight charges to pay interest on their watered stock.

The Affirmative.
William Spohn, the first speaker for the affirmative, conceded to the affirmative that the government should have control of the railroads, but should not give this power to a commission. He quoted from the Constitution of the United States to prove his point. He stated that by putting this power in the hands of a commission, that the three powers, executive, legislative and judicial, would all have to be changed.

Railroads' Power.
Earl Brown, the second speaker for the affirmative, quoted from authority outside of the United States the opinion held of our railroad owners and their power. By quoting from the decisions of the United States Supreme Court he clearly showed that the government had the power to bestow a power in the hands of a commission.

In Opposition.
The next speaker for the Negative, James Hoague, read several letters from local shippers that did not want the power to fix freight rates put in the hands of a Commission. The Constitution was also quoted several times by Mr. Hoague to prove his points. Jerome Davis, the next speaker on the affirmative, commenced by turning down the negative points. By quoting from Supreme Court and by the aid of a chart made out for the occasion he attempted to prove that the government has the right to name such a Commission. He showed why the Commission would be able to set more honest freight rates, not only for the little shippers but also to the railroad where there is a strong commission. He compared the states that have state legislation with those that have not and demonstrated the disadvantage which some states have over others.

The Square Deal.
Harold Jones, the third speaker for the negative, told how the railroads do not try to kill one section or factory to build up another, but said they tried to give the square deal to all. He stated that by putting a Commission in the field the rates in one section would not be the same as those in another and this would soon cause trouble. He stated that the rates charged by the railroad now are just and reasonable. He further stated that the present laws cover all the troubles in rebates which will be likely to arise in the future.

The Rebuttal.
Mr. Spohn in giving the rebuttal for the negative gave a very able speech and turned down with the aid of the Constitution of the United States some of the points so clearly stated by the affirmative. It was thought by some that this speech would decide the debate, but Orville Swift proved himself able to the occasion, by showing where the negative misunderstood some of their points. Mr. Swift deserves considerable credit for the manner in which he delivered his speech. The judges were: T. O. Howe, Rev. R. C. Denison and Jesse Earle. The decision of the judges was given from their seats by a slip of paper.

Demand for Flax.

ANOTHER WONDER OF SCIENCE

Biology Has Proved That Dandruff is Caused By a Germ.
Science is doing wonders these days in medicine as well as in mechanics. Since Ada lived, the human race has been troubled with dandruff, for which no hair preparation has heretofore proved a successful cure until Newbro's Herpicide was put on the market. It is a scientific preparation that kills the germ that makes dandruff or scurf by digging into the scalp to get at the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality, causing itching scalp, falling hair, and finally baldness. Without dandruff hair must grow luxuriantly. It is the only destroyer of dandruff. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

...FORTY YEARS AGO...

Janesville Daily Gazette, May 26, 1866.—Have You Heard Them?—For a number of days past our citizens have been entertained by a free concert, day and evening by a company of vocal and instrumental performers under the direction of Dr. Vaux of the magical remedy notoriety. We are of course unable to say what his remedy consists of, but we hear it spoken of as producing wonderful effects. If half the talk of it is true it would indeed seem to be magical.

Drowned.—Two men named Bethue
Finch and Lewis Thompson, both of La Prairie, were drowned today in Rock River, about five miles below
this city. They had gone to the river

Just how the accident occurred we were unable to learn. Their bodies had not been recovered when the messenger who came to the city left the locality. Both we understand, leave large families to mourn their deaths.

"He who thinks he can find in himself the means of doing without others is much mistaken; but he who thinks that others cannot do without him is still more mistaken." A merchant rarely makes the first mistake—never if he is sane; but when he concludes to curtail his advertising it is a sign that he is falling into the second.

DID IT EVER OCCUR TO YOU

That Sunday is a day of rest?
That men and machines last longer where the day is observed?
That the church is a synagogue, dedicated to worship, and more necessary to the welfare of a city than any other force which enters into its life?
That the line of demarkation between rest and recreation is largely an imaginary line?
That conscience is the birthright of the individual, and largely developed and controlled by education and environment?
That it is easier to give advice than to receive it, and much more agreeable?
That much of the twentieth century reform is a snare and delusion, prompted by selfishness and ambition?
That it is easier to be a large toad in a small puddle than to be any kind of a toad at the national capitol?
That the average boy and girl ought to be taught to write and spell in the good old-fashioned way?
That it takes a horseman to drive a horse, while any kind of an imitation can run an automobile?
That Janesville will never be fully on the map until the streets of the city are in better condition?

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

The average man is the man of the mill.
The man of the valley, or man of the hill,
The man at the throttle, the man at the plow,
The man with the sweat of his brow,
Who brings into being the dreams of the few,
Who works for himself, and for me, and for you,
There is not a purpose, a project or plan
But rests on the strength of the average man.
The growth of a city, the might of a land
Depend on the fruit of the toll of his hand;
The road, or the wall, or the mill, or the mart,
Call daily to him that he furnish his part;
The pride of the great and hope of the low,
The toll of the tide as it ebbs to and fro,
The reach of the rails and the country they span
Tell what is the trust in the average man.
The man who stands out between labors alone,
Them an who stands out between hovel and throne,
The man who gives freely his brain and his brawn
Is the man that the world has been built upon.
The clang of the hammer, the sweep of the saw,
The flash of the forge—they have strengthened the law,
They have rebuilt the realms that the wars overran,
They have shown us the worth of the average man.
So here's to the average man—to the one
Who has labored unknown on the tasks he has done,
Who has met as they came all the problems of life,
Who has helped us to win in the stress and the strife,
He has bent to his toll, thinking neither of fame,
Nor of tribute, nor honor, nor prize, nor acclaim—
In the forefront of progress, since progress began—Here's a health, and a hail to the average man.
"The Average Man," from the pen of an unknown writer, appeared in the columns of the Chicago Tribune not long since. The sentiment expressed comes to the rank and file of humanity like a refreshing breeze at the close of a hot and sultry day, for it brings to the toiling masses a word of encouragement, and dignifies the most humble calling.

The average people in life do not attract much attention. Why should they? They have nothing to advertise, and are content to faithfully perform the work in hand, satisfied with the reward that follows.

The average housewife is a good cook and a good housekeeper, and in making the home a paradise for the husband and children she is performing the highest mission of womanhood, but she does not expect notoriety and is satisfied with the love and commendation which comes to her from the home circle.

The average business man is so much like the great army of men who conduct the commercial enterprises of the country, that the enjoys no special distinction. He travels through the years and out of life at the end of the journey with reputation and character untarnished, yet he has contributed to the stability of the warp and woof of the business world, because he was an efficient cog in the great wheel of the general average.

The average banker is an honest man, and the trust funds, with which he deals, are regarded as safe as though locked up in a safety vault. Every bank building in San Francisco was wrecked during the late disaster, but the men behind the moneyed interests were solvent, and not a breath of suspicion rested against them. The great multitude of people employed in the industrial world are average people. Many of them aspire to promotion, and the hope to better conditions, holds them to faithful service like a magnet, but they toil on whether the door of opportunity presents itself or not, and so the busy wheels of the world's machinery revolve with monotonous regularity.

The average writer for the press is an unknown quantity. The news of the day, in every department, dished up in readable style, the editorial comment, more or less profound, comes from the pen of men whose names are not known outside the office where they are employed. The finished product, and its favorable reception by the constituency served, is the only reward sought or received. And so in every department of toil, 90 percent of the people employed are average people. What about the other 10 per cent?

There is a disposition, in this progressive and restless age, to get away from the average, and join the speculative ranks of the exceptional. This spirit is manifest, to greater or less extent in all communities. Business and professional men, not satisfied with the rewards which follow, intelligently directed energy, and influenced by the get-rich-quick mania to acquire something for nothing, invest recklessly in all sorts of gold brick schemes. Results are usually disastrous.

The Bigelows and Golls represent the exceptional in banking circles. The complaint is sometimes made that goodness is never advertised, while dishonesty and the record of crimes load the columns of the daily press.

Goodness and honesty belong to the average class of virtues, just the same as sunshine contributes much more freely than cloud and storm to the average weather. There would be no news in the statement that the month of June was a perfect month, but if a tornado swept over the land the most complete detail of the storm is demanded.

No one is interested in the statement that John Smith, who has conducted an honorable business for twenty-five years, continues to be honest, but when John Smith breaks from the ranks of the average, and becomes a defaulter, there is something to say about him, which is of interest to the community where he resides.

It's a mistaken notion that every day virtues, more numerous than every day vices, should be advertised. The man who reels home at night, abuses his family, and pays a penalty of thirty days in jail, is the exceptional, and not the average citizen.

History records the names of a few great men and women who stood at the head of their calling or profession in their day and generation and the history that is making today has a few such names connected with it. Great statesmen, great lawyers, great preachers, great teachers and great financiers.

Many a boy has been encouraged by a fond mother to believe that some day he might be president of the United States. If he ever wasted any time on day dreams or air castles as the result the dreams have proved a nightmare and the castles have been ruthlessly shattered.

This is no cause for discouragement for every boy and girl should aspire to the ideal, but the fact was long since discovered that the great rank and file of humanity belong to the average classes and the more important fact is well established, that the average brain is capable of mastering but one calling. The expert machinist is never a carpenter, and the business man is as much out of place behind the sacred desk or in the law office, as in the preacher or lawyer, behind the counter.

The world is looking for men and women who can do one thing well, but it has no place for the man who can do everything. It is worth while to be an average man, for the standard required was never higher than today. The average niche is large enough for the average man, and when faithfully filled the mission of life is accomplished.

PRESS COMMENT.

The Unattainable.
Osseo Recorder: A Chicago genius has invented a baby buggy that shuts up. But he can't invent a baby that will do it.

Few Even Interesting?
Milwaukee Journal: The dispatches tell us that Uncle Hod Taylor will "appear" in Wisconsin in a few days to stay until the Wisconsin primaries are held and do a little political work. That's good news; Uncle Hod can be interesting. There are not so many politicians of that kind left in Wisconsin.

Ribbons and Hose.
Chippewa Independent: The woman who sued her husband for divorce because she found out from the stabs in his cheque book that he had paid $2 for ribbons for his typewriter would probably have fallen dead on the spot had she discovered that he was buying hose for the woman who took care of his flower beds.

Clean Government Essential Also.
Milwaukee News: No doubt it will be a surprise to Senator La Follette when he returns to Wisconsin and finds that the people of the state are making up their minds that it is quite as essential to have a state government that is not honeycombed with graft as it is to talk about regulating the railways.

Are Taking Enough Chances.
Oshkosh Northwestern: Mr. Stephenson's home page, The Marinette Eagle-Star, has heard that "some naughty Stalwart may yet aspire to be a candidate for governor of Wisconsin," and it vehemently exclaims, "Horror!" Uncle Ike should not take it so seriously. No matter what the so-called Stalwarts may do there are at least three "reform" candidates already in the field to select from, and a chance that one or two more of them may yet take a hand in the game.

Winner Heart-Breakers.
Manitowoc Herald: Winniegar Brothers are gone and with their departure has come a manifest regret on the part of a certain coterie of girls of the city who were enamored not only for the dizzy glamor of the footlights but more particularly of the aggregation of actors. Usually it is the young fellows about town who get the sea-me after the show fever, but the last week has proved an exception. Truly there are aching hearts left because of the popular show's departure, but the impression so easily made will be easily forgotten. Cheer up.

Henrik Ibsen.
Evening Wisconsin: Ibsen deliberately studied morbid types. He made literature more of a business, as it were, and less of a recreation. He took his readers out of the region of Romanticism into that of Reality—out of the conservatory into the laboratory. His work had in its elements of greatness, but when people read or go to the theatre in search of pure delight they will pick out other plays than Ibsen's.

Soldiers At Close Range.
El Paso Herald: San Francisco will come from under the rule of an imperialist, military regime, June 1—and she is obliged to confess that she is mighty sorry to see the soldiers go. And six months hence some of the city papers will be trying hard to believe that these same soldiers have suddenly turned into cruel-hearted assassins, wickedly and maliciously killing off poor Filipinos whose only fault was that they were unfit to live any longer. Short range and long range judgment are two very diverse things somehow.

Psychology of Disenchantment.
Musical Leader and Concert Goer: The friends of J. M. Van Slyke of Madison, Wis., and Chicago, are trying to persuade him to publish a monograph on Herbert Spencer, those who have seen this study in manuscript speak highly of it. Mr. Van Slyke is an authority on the anatomy of negation, and the psychology of disenchantment, but being a retiring man hesitates at committing his conclusion to type. It is this shrinking modestly that his friends among the vocal literati are endeavoring to overcome. Thus far their efforts have been in vain.

Big Steamers Like That.
St. Louis Globe-Democrat: The steamer Kaiserin Augusta Victoria, which is on her first run across the Atlantic, is the largest vessel afloat. She is 704 feet long, with 17,200 horsepower, and a cargo capacity of 16,000 tons. In her first, second and third cabins 1200 passengers can be accommodated, and she has room for 2300 in the steerage. With her crew of 550 she can carry 4150 persons. Under free trade, how long would it take a fleet of such leviathans to break down the standard of American wages as maintained under a protective tariff?

Instance of Multitude's Bad Taste.
Marinette Eagle-Star: That this is a free country is proved by the fact that rich and poor commingle and intermarry, in spite of sensational gossip and attempts to create discord by a sensational press.

A very rich man and a very poor girl in New York recently announced that they were going to marry. The shadow of a big wing drifting across a chicken-yard could not create a greater hubbub. All the newspapers burst out and people talked of nothing else in the streets—simply because he had millions and she worked. If there is any matter in which personal taste should prevail, it is in the matter of marriage. To select a life partner, a sharer in the responsibilities of parenthood, on any other basis shows a mind pitifully dwarfed and warped. And this young man and young woman did nothing that ought not to be the common-sense common-place of daily events. Was the uproar a sign of how hard up some people are for something to talk about? Or was it a sign of the rarity of common-sense and self-respecting indifference?

Ibsen.
Milwaukee News: Henrik Ibsen, the Norwegian poet and dramatist, who died at Christiania Wednesday, was a prolific writer of plays, but his plays that attracted world-wide attention, though none of them ever attained popularity, were plays devoted to social problems. He belonged to the realistic school of writers and sturdily attacked humbug, cant and hypocrisy. He stripped conventionalities of its cant. He attacked shams. He idealized the truth. Doing these things he was denounced as "immoral."

It is a thankless task to point out to mankind its inconsistencies and the absurdities of its institutions. Ibsen was not only a reformer, but he was a great dramatist. His characters are living characters. He was a master of construction. His most powerful plays consist almost entirely of dialogue. Yet, where they appeal at all, they rivet the attention and hold the interest of an audience from their beginning to their ending. They are argumentative, there are no superfluous words, no padding—every sentence is essential, every incident is important, all bearing upon the main argument. And at the conclusion there is a feeling that the argument has been sustained and the case proven; and marvel that through such simple methods and seeming artlessness, such profound and moving effects could be produced.

Ibsen was one of the few dramatists of modern times that wrote with a view of making the drama a vehicle for ideas. He did not write for profit and he did not do something worth while. He did labor in vain.

SAN FRANCISCO WATER
Features of System That Has Several Reservoirs.

WAY IT LEFT CITY TO FIRE'S MERCY
Large Supply Pipes From the Mountains In All Directions Were Probably Broken—Prior to 1860 Drinking Water Was Brought to the City by a Ferry.

The failure of the water supply which placed San Francisco at the mercy of the flames was doubtless due to the breaking of the many large flow lines that lead to the city, says the Kansas City Times.

In part this breakage may have been caused by falling buildings, but primarily it resulted from the violent movement of the earth. Such accidents have occurred in the past, notably in 1897, when large flow lines were cracked during earthquakes.

San Francisco's water supply is provided by the Spring Valley Water company, from a series of lakes, distributing reservoirs on elevated places and reservoirs formed by immense dams across valleys or canyons in the mountains. The largest of these reservoirs are the Pilarcitos, San Andreas, Crystal Springs and Calaveras. The capacity of these four storage places is so large that the figures carry little meaning to the ordinary mind, but it is more than 72,000,000,000 gallons. In addition to these reservoirs, which are all on high elevations, there are six distributing reservoirs: Lake Honda, 368 feet above the city, with a capacity of 33,000,000 gallons; College hill, 224 feet; 15,000,000 gallons; University mound, 168 feet, 35,000,000 gallons; Clay street hill, 375 feet, 141,000 gallons; Francisco street, 120 feet, 7,000,000 gallons; Lombard street, 306 feet, 4,000,000 gallons. This shows a distributing capacity of 95,000,000 gallons and an elevation guaranteeing a supply in every part of the city. Nothing less than the breaking of the pipe lines could shut off San Francisco's water supply, and this, as has been said, is what probably happened.

The Pilarcitos reservoir is in the mountains of San Mateo county and has an elevation of nearly 700 feet above tide level. It was built in 1864 when the city had 100,000 population. It was formed by building a dam across the Pilarcitos valley ninety feet high, with a capacity of more than 1,000,000,000 gallons. A thirty inch pipe sixteen miles long conveys the water to Lake Honda, a distributing reservoir in the suburbs of the city. The San Andreas dam, in the mountains of that name, holds 6,200,000,000 gallons of water. The Crystal Springs reservoir is in the San Andreas mountains, southwest of San Francisco about fifteen miles. Its capacity is 7,000,000,000 gallons.

The distributing pipe system of San Francisco, from four inches up to thirty-seven and a half inches, has a total length of more than 400 miles, and although the city's surface is broken by many hills and dales the average pressure maintained by the splendidly equipped pumping stations and the elevations varies from fifty to seventy-five pounds to the square inch.

Prior to 1860 San Francisco's fresh water for drinking purposes was ferried across the bay from Sausalito, in Marin county, much as milk would be supplied in cans and barrels. Lake Merced, on the west coast of the peninsula, contributed also to the city's needs, as it does now, but both sources were wholly inadequate. The Spring Valley Water company was organized in 1860 and bought land in San Mateo county for a waterworks in the San Mateo mountains seventeen miles southeast from the Market street ferry house. This land lies at the confluence of the Pilarcitos and Spring Valley creeks. A reservoir was built of small capacity, and a line of pipe thirty-three miles in length was laid to San Francisco. The company also built the Lake Honda reservoir, with a capacity of 33,000,000 gallons, and later another was constructed near the junction of Market and Valencia streets, at what used to be called the Market street cut.

The water company continued to increase its supply year by year until in 1895 it was realized that a great city was to be built on the peninsula and that a very much larger water supply than it then had would be necessary. The average daily consumption then was 2,500,000 gallons. Since that year the company has been adding pipe lines and reservoirs constantly. The San Francisco water supply has always been regarded as a very good one.

Cat and Shingle Messages.
Hundreds of messages from stricken persons in San Francisco arrived recently in Chicago for distribution, at the local postoffice, says a Chicago dispatch. The epistles are written on anything from a shirt cuff to a shingle, and few contained more than the address, the word "saved" or "alive" and the signature of the writer. A number of the missives bear the words "A Frisco refugee" or "A lucky survivor" written across the face to insure free transit in the mails.

Dr. Richards' Opinion.
An opinion from Dr. Richards, the well-known dentist, is that "like almost everyone else who has seen 40 years of theatrical life, I think the stage just now is overburdened with scenery and swamped with extravagant costumes. This condition cannot be kept up much longer. The managers cannot stand it. It is too expensive and the rivalry between them, each trying to outdo the other, must bring about a reaction that will do away with the whole scheme."

LOCAL FIREMEN SAVED THE DAY

RESPONSE TO EVANSVILLE'S CALL WAS PROMPT AND ADEQUATE.

WOOD CREAMERY ABLAZE

And Cut-Off City Men Had Been Fighting Flames Two Hours When Help Arrived.

At Evansville yesterday afternoon a fire, started by the lighting of tar used in laying a new flooring in one portion of the process butter factory and creamery located near the Northwestern railroad tracks and owned by the D. E. Wood Co. of Elgin, Ill., partially destroyed the three-story frame building and ruined the roof of the two-story annex. The loss, estimated at from $10,000 to $15,000, is covered by insurance. The blaze started about four o'clock and the Evansville department, headed by unsuitable hose which repeatedly gave way and the weak pressure provided by the water works, was unable to cope with the flames and sent a call to Janesville for the loan of 1,000 feet of hose. This had scarcely been loaded on a car when another call came for the fire engine. Thanks to the absence of a high wind and the prompt response of Chief Klein and the Janesville department, the neighboring plant of the Baker Mfg. Co. and the local tobacco warehouse owned by George Rummell of Janesville, as well as several other structures in the vicinity of the burning creamery, escaped damage.

Crowd Saw "Special" Off
There were about 200 men and boys in the local railroad yards when the "special," consisting of the big locomotive No. 1104, a flat-car onto which the Water Witch fire engine was hurried, and a caboose, was made up. Engineer Humphrey and Fireman Neil Sullivan were on the locomotive and Conductor Schmidt of Baraboo was in charge of the train, as it pulled out at 5:55 with about 30 passengers aboard. The first six miles were made in seven minutes, but it was necessary to take the sidetrack at Fellows and wait fifteen minutes for the southbound passenger.

Water Witch to Rescue
Two meager, ineffectual streams were being thrown on the burning building when the Janesville relief expedition arrived on the scene. One of them was being provided by the Evansville fire engine which was working with poor success at the edge of a creek some rods away. Fire Chief Ray Gilman was standing on a spirited horse, keeping at bay a well-behaved throng which had no intention of getting in the way, while the real work was being directed by Chief of Police Cal Doughton. Engineer Gus Bauman fired up the Water Witch, just as she stood on board the flatcar and threw her suction pipe over into the tank of the big "special" locomotive. Connection was made with the railroad company's water supply tank, while the Janesville firemen and fire-pole connected up the hose, and in less than ten minutes to narrate it, the reinforcements were getting in their work. The Water Witch is in bad condition. She hissed and gurgled, blew out her packing, and threw only 350 gallons a minute where she should have thrown 700, but at that her stream had several times the volume and force of either of the two which had been in operation. Chief Klein and his men worked until after seven o'clock and the stream was kept going until 8:30.

Refreshments for Firemen
Nearly all of Evansville's population was assembled to witness the spectacle and there were numerous humorous incidents to keep them entertained. Doughnuts and coffee were being passed to the men who were fighting the blaze and Lawrence Griffin, a Janesville newsboy, known on the streets as "Monk," who had smuggled himself in with the local volunteers, made a dive for the first provision basket that came in sight and ran with a cruller in each hand, pursued by the angry distributor, John Lawrence, impersonating the mayor of Janesville in order to gain possession of one of the coveted cakes, was unable to get by diplomacy what young Master Griffin had taken for force. Bert L. Watt, venturing too near the smoking ruins, was nearly drowned by a stream of water thrown outward while a change of base was being made.

Some Who Made Trip
Besides those already mentioned the following were on the relief train: Will Conroy, Cornelius Murphy, Charles Schultz, Fred Borghart, Hans Jorgenson, John Marshall, Thomas Abbott, Patrick Mulquin, Bea Dugan, Edward Carpenter, Frank J. Mowat, W. P. Styles, Geo. Simpson, John Fletcher, Percy Mungler, Fred Green, George Rummell, Henry Casey, Vernon Murdock, Orville Morse, Edward Tracy, Peter Merrill, Al Hill, Ferdinand Heil, W. W. Watt, H. E. McCov of Chicago and a representative of the Gazette.

JANESVILLE MEN AT BIG PORTAGE SALE

Alderman Fish and Fred Green Helped Bid in $20,000 Worth of Unclaimed St. Paul Freight.

Alderman Eugene T. Fish and Fred Green returned yesterday from Portage where they had been in attendance at the three days' auction of unclaimed freight gathered up on the C. M. & St. P. railroad system. A total of 1,500 sales were made and the receipts amounted to $20,000. At that the depot was half filled with merchandise that could not be disposed of at the conclusion of the auction. All purchasers of $50 worth of goods or over were given free transportation to any point on the line and free shipment of the merchandise secured. These inducements were sufficient to attract over 1,000 visitors from Minnesota, Nebraska, Illinois, Michigan, and other neighboring states as well as Wisconsin. Mr. Fish says that most anything from a threshing machine to a shaving-mug could be bought; and when the bidding became spirited prices went above the ordinary retail quotations were obtained for considerable merchandise. Unlike the freight office sale held here inspection was allowed each forenoon preceding the sale. Sugar which had been on too familiar terms with an oil barrel brought $2.10 when the same quality, undamaged, would have been worth only $1.76 at wholesale. A national cash register worth $110 when new brought $165. Soap worth $3.65 went for $4 and $5. One man bought a gravestone, already carved for someone else, for $17.50 when $15 would have bought one with his own name on it, fresh from the shop. Alderman Fish forgot himself once and bought 50 dozen tin cups, but he was able to dispose of them, without loss. He also purchased some steel sales to which he hopes to get the combination, some varnish, and harness oil. Mr. Green purchased a big consignment of plating fixtures and lubricating oil.

MUCH WANTED TRAIN OUT OF CREAM CITY

St. Paul Railway Company Announces New Time Card—Leaves Milwaukee at 7:15 P. M.

Monday a new time card will take effect on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway and a number of very important changes in trains will be made. Among the new features is a late train from Milwaukee to Janesville. This leaves the Cream City at 7:15 p. m. and arrives here at 9:35. This service, which has been wanted by the residents of Janesville and the business men of Milwaukee for some time, is made possible by alterations in the time of trains between Milwaukee and Milton Junction. The train leaving the Wisconsin metropolis at 4:05 in the afternoon and arriving at 6:40 will be maintained. Heretofore this was latest on the St. Paul road. Two other changes in time are made. The Madison-Chicago passenger arrives at 4:55 instead of 5:05 p. m., and the Chicago-Madison train arrives and leaves at 10:30 instead of 10:35 a. m.

Society..

Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Kimball of this city were among the Janesville people who witnessed the presentation of "The Bachelors' Romance" by the Edwin Booth dramatic society of the University of Wisconsin at Madison last evening. "A more finished amateur production has seldom, if ever, been seen in Madison," is Madison Democrat's comment this morning and this is followed by a tribute to Janesville young lady which will be of interest to local people: "In the leading role of David Holmes, literary critic of the Review, Lawrence A. Liljequist showed an understanding of the part that none but a born actor could have. His splendid performance would not have been possible with anyone of less talent than Miss Elnetta Kimball, taking the leading feminine role, Sylvia, David's ward. Her charming manner completely captivated the audience from the moment she first appeared until the final 'they lived happily for ever afterward.'" The production is to be put on at the Pabst theatre, Milwaukee, by the University players' next Tuesday evening. The Fuller opera-house was crowded last evening.

Lynn Whaley was pleasantly surprised at his home at 56 Highland avenue last evening by a dozen people, members of the High King club. The evening was enjoyably passed at cards and dainty refreshments were served. The occasion was Mr. Whaley's birthday and before departing for the evening the guests presented him with a beautiful Morris chair.

Miss Alice Harper is visiting in Chicago.

Miss Marguerite Samuels is a guest at the Gamma Phi sorority house in Madison for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hancock of Grand Rapids, Mich., are guests of Mrs. Hancock's sister, Mrs. David Young. They will be here over Sunday.

Hamilton Vose of Milwaukee, one of the Cream City's crack golfers, and P. W. Jacobs of Madison arrived in Janesville this morning with the expectation of spending two days in practice at the local links in preparation for the approaching state tournament.

Still Improving: Friends of Mrs. M. J. Conroy, 125 Pearl street, will rejoice to hear that she is steadily improving every day. Preaches Tomorrow: Dr. Olin A. Curtis is to preach tomorrow at the Carroll Memorial church.

Ten Days for Stone-Thrower: Kit McDonagh, the cigar-maker from Chicago who was arrested late Thursday afternoon for hurling large rocks against a frame structure opposite the Riverside hotel, appeared in court this morning to answer to the charge of drunkenness. He pleaded guilty and after a severe lecture Judge Fifield imposed a fine and costs of $6.40, with the alternative of 30 days in the county jail. The prisoner said that it was not the usual thing for him to get in a rock-throwing mood while partaking of the beverage that is popularly supposed to cheer. Johnny Fagan, a suspected looking wanderer who was picked up by Officer Morrissey Thursday night, has been released, with strict instructions to "scratch gravel" out of the city limits.

Brown Brothers' Parade: The Brown Brothers United Shows, which are exhibiting on Jackson street this afternoon, paraded the streets this morning. There were bareback riders, fancy turnouts, clowns, Indians and other necessary features.

and figure you will readily see that it pays to buy PROPER LITTLE CHICK FOOD. Every little chick, when hatched, is worth ten cents. With a proper ly balanced ration of dry grain food you can get them through the critical period (the first five weeks) and not lose a chick. With corn meal and other sloppy foods you will probably lose twenty per cent. The difference saved in chicks more than pays for the extra cost of feed.

HIRED TO HARASS PEDDLERS OF OIL

AGENTS TOLD TO GET RESULTS
REGARDLESS OF MEANS.

ONLY ONE MAN SURVIVED

Held Trade Despite Action of Standard and Emissary in Furnishing Free Oil by Tank Load to Customers.

Cleveland, O., May 26.—A total of 19 witnesses were called by Interstate Commerce Commissioners Prouty and Clements in the Standard Oil Inquiry here Friday. Testimony bordering on the sensational was obtained from several witnesses.

That of George L. Lane, of Mansfield, O., a former employe of the Standard Oil company was regarded as particularly important. According to his evidence, Lane was for about 14 months, in 1901 and 1902, employed by the Standard Oil company for the particular purpose of driving out of business all of the independent oil peddlers in a dozen or more of the principal cities and towns of northern Ohio. He said he was employed by C. M. Lyons, of the Cleveland office of the Standard Oil company, to go to certain designated places and use every means, fair and foul, to force the independents to quit. He described the methods pursued in detail.

One Man Holds Out. "My instructions," he said, were to kill them, and I was told that if I could not do the job somebody else would be sent to take my place. I worked in Youngstown and surrounding small towns, Canton, Girard, Warren, Ravenna, Massillon, Mansfield, Elyria, Oberlin and other places. In all of the towns, with the exception of Youngstown, the independent peddlers were forced to abandon their business. In Youngstown a man named William H. Valley was encountered, and despite everything we could do he held his trade. We gave oil away by the barrel and tank load, but it did no good. Valley's customers threw it away."

Miss Elizabeth Protzman, a stenographer and bookkeeper in the Dayton, O., office of the Standard Oil company, testified that information concerning the oil shipment of rivals was brought into the office by draymen and that she made careful record of them and gave them to her superior.

Trade Methods in Detail. D. E. Bayles, secretary and treasurer of the Independent Refining company, limited, of Oil City, Pa., offered testimony concerning railroad rate discrimination against his company, and that in order to hurt their business in Indiana, the Standard agents circulated reports to the effect that the oil city company was in reality a Standard Oil concern.

Frank J. Holmrich, of Bellevue, O., told how his independent oil business was all but ruined by the methods of the Standard.

W. J. Cram, of Marietta, O., testified that the Standard for years bound up his company and that the company was finally compelled to sell its property at a low figure.

E. M. Gibbs, a merchant of Tipton, O., said he was compelled to handle the Standard's oil because the Standard's agents threatened to start an other store close by and sell every article he sold in competition.

Charles A. Ricks, of Cleveland, employed in the Cleveland office of the Standard company from 1889 to 1901; his last position being that of assistant general manager, denied upon close examination that a large amount of Standard Oil literature was prepared in his office and offered to papers throughout Ohio at so much per column.

Exchanges Freight for Oil. George L. Lewis, a lubricating oil salesman of Chicago, told how he lost a contract with the Dayton & Troy traction line because the Standard agents promised enough freight to move than pay for the oil.

C. B. Duffy, purchasing agent of the Hooking Valley railroad, was called to testify concerning the buying of lubricating oils. Asked if he had not said recently that his road would lose from $172,000 to $200,000 a year to freightage if he bought lubricating oils from any other company than the Standard or Galena, he replied that he might have made such a remark but he had no positive recollection of it. He said he had no instructions from his superiors to buy these oils from the Standard or Galena companies.

Stuyvesant Fish Resigns. New York, May 26.—Stuyvesant Fish, president of the Illinois Central railroad, Friday resigned his position as vice president of the National Park bank of this city and the resignation was accepted.

Fruit Diet Hospital. For three years a hospital has been in existence at Bromley, near London, where only a fruit diet is allowed to the patients, and where during that time there have been only two deaths among the 500 patients who have received treatment. The institution is known as the Lady Margaret Fruitarian hospital.

Looking Ahead. Angry Creditor—What's the use of offering me a check? It wouldn't be worth a cent at the bank. Struggling Genius—Perhaps not, sir, but some day in the future, when I am dead and gone, my autograph will make that check worth hundreds of dollars.—Chicago Tribune.

Sent Forth to Die.

It was at the Port Arthur siege during the assault on the celebrated 103-meter hill which cost the Japanese so many men. Before sending forth to certain death a regiment held until then in reserve Gen. Nogi, addressing the colonel, said: "Your regiment is the first in all this world!" "General," replied the officer, gravely, "it will be the first in the other!"

Rapid Rise.

Perceval Gibbon, the well-known author, began life as a cabin boy on a sailing ship. He is very young yet, but there is every chance of his having M. P. added to his name before long, joining the ranks of those distinguished parliamentary authors whose most recent addition was Winston Churchill.

Philanthropist's Plan.

Bolton Hall, philanthropist, lawyer, sociologist and tax reformer, prompted by the good results that have attended his experiments in Philadelphia and other cities, is preparing to open a farm for the poor near New York city on the same lines that have met with success elsewhere. By arrangement with the Astor estate he has secured control of a farm adjoining the Morris park race track and will use it for the purpose he has in view.
